

Valerie Feldmann

Associate Principal

McKinsey & Co.

Valerie is an Associate Principal in McKinsey & Company's New York office and a co-leader of the McKinsey Asia Center: Greater China.

Valerie has extensive cross-border management experience, working with US companies in Greater China and South East Asia and with Chinese and Korean companies in the US. She has led strategy development and large transformation projects for high tech and industrial companies globally.

As a leader of McKinsey Asia Center, Valerie helps Asian clients with their globalization strategy and execution. Specifically, she currently helps Asian companies understand how to capture opportunities from the US stimulus plan. She also co-leads the Cross-Border Merger Management Boot Camp program, which provides real-time network and capability building for clients facing cross-border M&A.

Prior to joining McKinsey, Valerie served as Telecom Policy Consultant to the UN International Telecommunication Union, Geneva; as Managing Editor for the European Communication Council; and taught graduate students in the department of media economics and media management at the Free University Berlin. Valerie has authored 2 books and co-published 4 books and numerous articles in the area of technology strategy and policy.

Valerie holds a Ph.D. in Political and Social Science from Free University Berlin, a Master of Science in Business Management (Dipl.-Kffr.) and a Master of Arts in Communications from Westfaelische Wilhelms University Muenster. As a Fulbright PhD scholar she was a Visiting Fellow at Columbia Business School.

